Aber's goal this year has been to create one dormitory, a single unit. At the beginning the 1969-1970 school term the womens section and the mens section separated as in two different dorms. Since then the elevators have been opened to both men and women, the starswells are open to both and they all receive the same visitation hours. There is both a man and a woman president and two members representing each floor on dormitory council.

Also this year, Aber Hall has had two queens. . Bobbie Nelson was chosen Foresters Ball Queen and Shirley Terpin was selected Theta Chi Dream Girl.

An Aber resident reaches hopefully for mail.

Visitation hours were equal for both men and women of Aber.

KAIMIN

The only UM newspaper on campus for 71 years, the Kaimin was published this year every Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday by the Associated Students of the University of Montana. It had a lot of freedom in choice as to what to print and only ran into one problem. The Publications Board threatened to withdraw part of the Kaimin's funds and incorporate them into The Establishment, a daily newsheet on campus. The reason was because it was felt that the Kaimin did not devote enough space to campus news. Nothing was done to further the plan and the Kaimin remained the same.

The purpose of the Women's Recreation Association is to provide opportunities for girls interested in recreational and athletic activities. The year was highlighted by various events such as Co-Rec. nights, on which both boys and girls participated in the gym, the teachers banquet, the Steak Fry on May 6 and the athletic tournaments. The sports activities in WRA are volleyball, swimming, bowling, basketball, badminton, softball, football, tennis and track.

Also, in March of 1970 they participated in the Northwest Collegiate Parachuting Championships and placed fourth in the competition.

This year, the Panhellenic Council was concerned mainly with rush in the sororities on the UM campus and its faults. In order to do this, the officers attended a Greek Convention in Oregon in February. Bringing back several ideas, they then set up a workshop including the seven sororities on campus. This workshop was directed at changing next fall's rush so as to provide a more amiable atmosphere for those girls seeking a Greek life. A general meeting of all sorority members was held at the beginning of the workshop. The girls then went to group meetings to discuss the problems at hand. Due to the workshop, several changes were made concerning future rushing, for instance, the length of rush week and procedure.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

EXECUTIVE BOARD

The executive board held its meetings in the Golden Oak room of the UC. President Mazurek and the commissioners of various ASUM committees discussed programs for their groups.

BUDGET AND FINANCE

Budget and finance, the committee which acts as treasury department for ASUM, allocated funds for several new adjustments. They approved and appropriated funds for a new sound system in the Adams fieldhouse and a Selective Service Information Center on campus. They also investigated Kaimin coverage of campus events and considered expanding the Establishment, a daily news sheet published by the U of M Information Services.

The budget committee discusses the day's agenda and what it will entail.

PROGRAM COUNCIL

Striving for support, a request for 1970-71 budget of $90,000 dollars marked a sharp change from the present $40,000 budget. The program council having a budget deficit during the year, felt more money was necessary. The committee brought in a variety of performances which included Neil Diamond Ferrante and Teicher, the National Shakespeare Company and Three Dog Night, Nearly all were well received.

The program council introduced to the U of M campus this year programs ranging from ecology to hard rock.

CENTRAL BOARD

Central Board underwent many changes this year, the most important being that of the change in CB president and vice-president. Joe Mazurek and Gary Thorgerson took the places of Ben Briscoe and Bruce Gray, consecutively, after the former CB officers were killed in a tragic automobile accident. Other changes were revisions in the ASUM constitution, approval of a Selective Service information center on the UM campus and the support of a World Peace Day.

PUBLICATIONS BOARD

Pub board is the advisory committee for several organizations. It checks and reviews the policies of the Kaimin, the Sentinel, the Book, the Garret and the M book. The staffs on each of these must, in turn, also be approved by the publications board. This year they determined new policies for the Garret, the Book and the Kaimin and directed a survey on most of the U of M publications.

ATHLETICS BOARD

The athletics board of this year made several changes. The most important of these being, the Faculty Athletic Committee recommended to President Pantzer that control of student fees be transferred to Athletics Commission of Central Board. This would give the students complete control of the $8 student fee allocated for the athletic fund. Both Jack Swarthout, committee advisor and UM football coach, and Mark Mertens, ASUM business manager criticized the motion at that time.

ACADEMIC AFFAIRS

One of the varied activities of Academic Affairs this year was a poll questioning a recommendation to end the foreign language requirement at UM. The group also suggested a change in group requirements and proposed reinstating final week.

The Student Facilities Commission determined several issues this year. The different activities included reviewing petitions from Craig, Dunivay, and Elrod Halls, distributing informational pamphlets at the UM Health Center and approving a bill to exclude high school students from the University Center.

STUDENT FACILITIES

FORESTRY

The University of Montana School of Forestry was founded in 1913, being one of the original group accredited by the Society of American Foresters. The occupation of forestry presents the professional management of natural resources, especially forests and forest lands. Pantzer says U.S. must get out of war

By RALPH WANAMAKER Montana Kalmin Staff Writer

President Robert T. Pantzer urged President Nixon in a telegram yesterday to "get out of war, and it must be at the earliest possible moment."

Mr. Pantzer's statement was interrupted by a one-minute standing ovation from the 2,000 persons attending the memorial service for four Kent State University students killed in demonstrations on that campus Monday. President Pantzer told the Main Hall audience he is "experiencing utter frustration over the continuation and escalation of the war."

Mr. Pantzer said repressive actions resulting from violence threaten a college's freedom.

"Let us not sacrifice the strength and freedom of this University for a momentary satisfaction of our frustrations," he said.

A boycott of classes was advocated by Ronald Wheeler, graduate student in zoology.

Wheeler said the strike would mobilize students into a single

Students can "join their brothers and sisters in a nonviolent manner." he said.

Stressing the need for nonviolent action, Wheeler said the insanity that has happened on other campuses does not have to spread to the UM campus.

Wheeler said protesters can "educate" non-boycotting students by picketing buildings and by "rapping with people" going to classes.

The Rev. Jon Nelson, campus Lutheran pastor, urged listeners to commit themselves to be together on the strike - to express disappointment and distress.

At the Rev. Nelson's urging, members of the audience joined hands in what he termed a symbol of solidarity.

He also urged students to be committed to the survival of the human race, each other and to Arnold Silverman, professor of geology, said Kent State students are dead for protesting what too few have protested.

Cogswell, Smith to Retire in June

Fedore Chosen as UM Dean

Dr. Robert R. Fedore of Michigan State University will replace Andrew C. Cogswell as UM dean of students July I, 1970, upon the latter's retirement.

Dr. Fedore, 44, a native of Jackson, Mich., has been associate dean of students at Michigan State, East Lansing since 1969.

Plenty to De

"I'm leaving no scarcity of problems to my successor, Dr. Bob Fedore," Dean Cogswell said recently as he reflected on his 39 years at UM.

"Some of the problems I leave are big and some of them are small," he said. "They vary from drugs in our society, particularly among youth, to how to dress women cheerleaders so they won't be confused with other coeds now that the miniskirt is in voque."

As he views the current scene, the dean said, he sometimes feels that this is where he "came in."

"I took over this deaning job some 14 years ago during a period of furor over drinking on campus," the said. "I'm leaving it during an equally great furor over drugs. In the meantime, I've seen some 28,000 students come and go, the overwhelming majority of whom turned out to be fine citizens, a great many of them outstanding leaders.

"So I hope you'll pardon my faith

Woolston Named Registrar

Wayne C. Woolston, director of admissions and records at the University of Colorado, Colorado Springs Center, will become registrar at the University of Montana on July 1, President Robert T. Pantzer has announced.

Woolston, 38, will succeed Leo Smith.

A native of Inglewood, Calif., he has been director of admissions and records at the UC Colorado Springs

Center since 1965. Things Have Changed

When UM Registrar Leo Smith came to UM in 1946, he said, things were generally being run in the Registrar's Office in a "horse-andbuggy style." "But I started right out making some changes," he said, and 24 years later, when Smith retires this June, he will have watched the University enrollment grow from 1,113 in the fall of 1945 to 8,032 in Fall Quarter of 1969.

Smith recalled that in the fall of 1946 a landside of returning veterans brought the enrollment to a high of 3.22—including more than 1,2000 veterans—and he said the situation was "hectic." We just weren't ready for them all," he said, noting that the Men's Gymnasium was filled with bunks for the men since the campus was geared to accommodate a maximum of 2.300 students.

The academic departments included the following: accounting and finance, aerospace studies, anthropology, art, botany, business education and office administration, chemistry, computer science, drama, economics, english, foreign languages, geography, geology, health and physical education, history, home economics, management, mathematics, microbiology, military science, music, philosophy, physics and astronomy, political science, psychology, religious studies, sociology and social welfare, speech communications, speech pathology and audiology, wildlife research, and zoology. The various schools and colleges were: college of arts and sciences, school of business administration, school of education, school of fine arts, school of forestry, school of journalism, school of law, school of pharmacy.

DR. VICTOR DUKE AND THE DRUG ABUSE AND USE PROGRAM

Like schools elsewhere, the University has had its experience with the drug problem. Is the University, as a teacher, trying to do anything about it? The answer is "yes". We interviewed Dr. Victor H. Duke, Associate Professor of Pharmacy, and here are some of the highlights.

Sentinel: About drug abuse--just what has your program been doing?

Dr. Duke: At the academic level, we have offered one course. We started out with General 110 as a two hour offering last fall. Next fall this will be expanded to three hours. This is some indication of the importance which we attach to the subject, as well as evidence of the interest that students have in the problem, from the hip to the incoming freshman.

Sentinel: It's our understanding that the program was also active at the community level.

Dr. Duke: Yes. Dr. Zimmerman conducted extension courses at St. Ignatius; Dean Van Horn was similarly occupied at Anaconda, Helena, Butte, and Kalispell. These were courses offering two credits, and covering the various aspects of treatment, kinds of drugs, and the clinical people involved in treatment.

Sentinel: How about summer school?

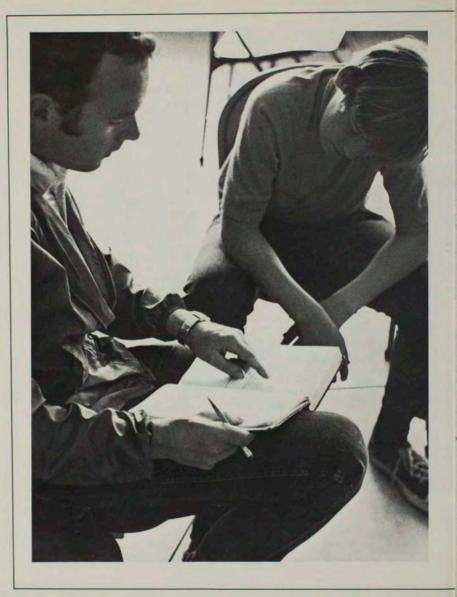

Dr. Duke: Well, we've been at that angle for two summers and will go into our third season in 1970. These courses are primarily for teachers and educators.

Sentinel: What do you think was the effect of all this?

Dr. Duke: I think we got across the idea that we were there to give information - not to moralize.

Sentinel: Where does the program go from here?

Dr. Duke: Laboratory programs are being set up for more research on the behavioral drugs -- the amphetamines, alcohol etc.

TEACHERS-IN-TRAINING

Winter and spring quarters, 1969, marked the beginning of a new program for teacher-in training attending the University of Montana. This plan grew out of a Title I project to help children with learning difficulties.

This program was created to help 220 elementary pupils reach a level of success that they had not previously enjoyed. One facet of the success-oriented plan was to give each pupil a part-time tutor. Since the grant could not cover the cost for paid tutors, University students were asked if they would like to participate.

The results of this program proved to be extremely valuable to the individual pupils and to the teachers-intraining. The program has now become a permanent part of the University School of Education and one can now earn credit under 201 in this teaching lab.

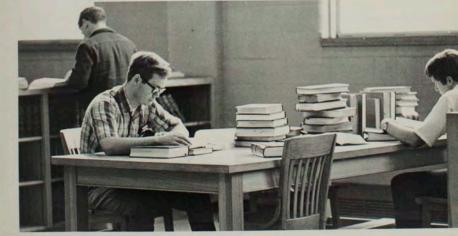

MONTANA DEFENDER PROJECT

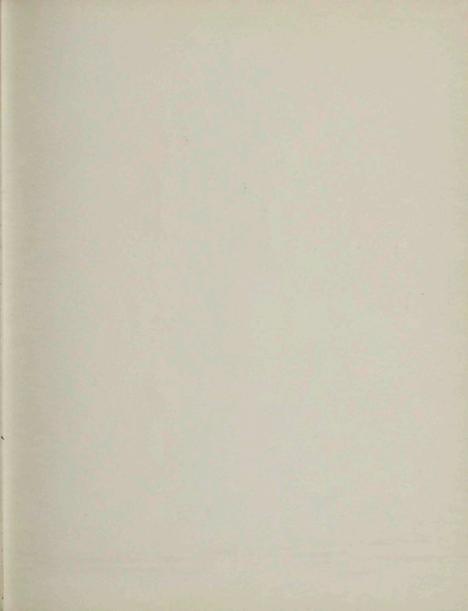

Law students have the opportunity to participate in the Montana Defender Project. Junior and senior law students assist lawyers assigned to defend indigents, examine applications for release from inmates of the state penitentiary, and assist Indians from Montana reservations. Under a Ford Foundation grant, students have been able to interview, process petitions and help develop cases.

The Star Spangled Banner
O, say! can you see by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous figh
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallandy streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.
O, say, does that Star Spangled Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

the "cycling sigs" of last year appeared in the intramural season with an outstanding football record and the opportunity to face an opposing team in the final intramural playoff game. Although their cycling records of last year might have helped them all get in shape for their season of play, it was still their ability on the field that showed in the final analysis. at left, timm fredricks on attempts a field goal while his teammates are ready for any substitution which might need to take place or moral encouragement which might have also been a winning factor in their success this year.

although the "sigs" could not use their varsity swimmer kurt von tagen in their attempts at the intramural swim meet, they once again use the "jocs" of their house to compete in the intramural swim meet pictured at right. In this event, the 100 meter backstroke, they gained a number of their points by placing both second and third, as in intramural sports, a team effort was displayed which gave both unity and spirit to their house even though in the last they may not have won - the all out effort in these sports was an important acheivement to the men of sigma chi.

FOOTBALL

The work for money to go to school is not only with the brain but also that physical labor which a player must go through every day of the football season. Only being on the field and feeling the crash of the tackle against your stomach or running down the field with the fear of two massive tackles at your back will attest to the fact that it takes a lot of work, hours of it, to earn enough money so that you may go to classes when not on the field.

"The Bossman of the Blues"

People who have purchased tickets at original price may return their tickets for a refund at the UC ticket office.

Combined with the new sound system purchased by ASUM, performances by Neil Diamond and Jennifer as well as many other top name performers brought a wide variety of entertainment to the students. In the informal atmosphere of the Field House, these performances seemed to be close to the audience which typically provided Montana hospitality.

A winning team always brings a good audience and with the rumor that the Grizzlies were not the team of last year combined with the winning record in preseason games brought the crowd out to fill the stands to capacity. Those that said it could never be done were fooled game after game after game. A feeling of unreality, combined with widespread enthusiasm for the 'team's first Big Sky Conference, was felt throughout the campus.

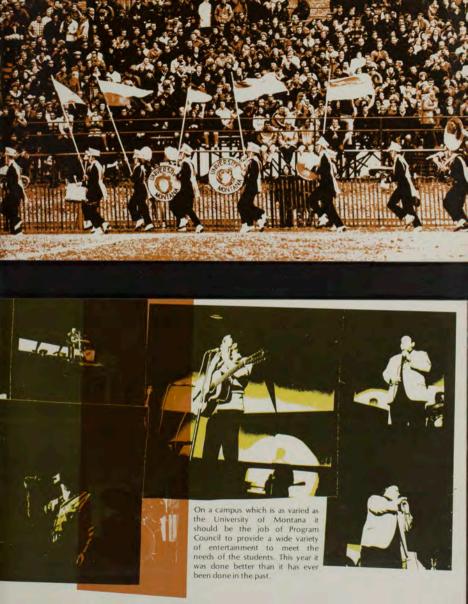

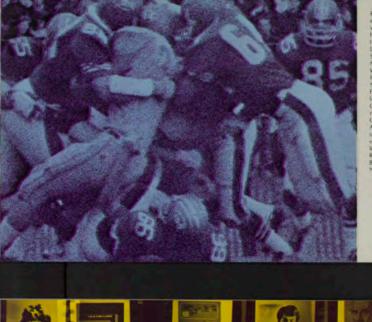

Entertainment during the halftime performances was provided by a much improved band. The tone of the winning spirit seemed to flow from all the instruments and the marching was no longer the trudge of last year but the renewed spirit of performing for a new type of audience. During the game with South Dakota, the band was not only the only element giving the crowd their spirited abilities, but three of the football team members gave a dance of their own in an impromptu expression of high spirits felt by all members of the team. When these players trooped onto the field, the audience felt like they were sharing the high feelings of the team and not simply a separate entity.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., will deliver the third address in the Mansfield Lecture Series, tonight at 8 in the Field House. His topic will be "U.S. Relations with Latin America.' The senator will also be keynote speaker for the Kyi-Yo Indian Youth Conference tomorrow at 9 a.m. in the Field House. Both lectures are open to the public without charge.

Other meetings with Sen. Kennedy on campus were still unconfirmed late yesterday. UM administrative spokesmen told the Montana Kaimin that the senator's schedule will depend on the time of his arrival in Missoula by private plane today.

Leo B. Lott, political science chairman, said yesterday Sen. Kennedy has requested a joint meeting with several political science classes. A question-andanswer sessions is tentatively scheduled today at 2:15 in LA11.

Political science classes will have priority, but other students may attend, Mr. Lott said.

Sen. Kennedy also is expected to meet with representatives of Indian Low Income Group for Human Treatment (Indian LIGHT) sometime today for a discussion of Indian problems and programs. Earlier, LIGHT members announced plans to picket the senator's speeches because they understood he would not have time to meet with them.

BASKETBALL

It was a bad year for the basketball team, the spirit of the winning football season had not died and was reflected in the faces of the cheerleaders. The cheerleaders were not leading the apathetic crowds of last year but a completely new group which had new hopes for victorious Grizzlies. With the withdrawl of three of the team's best players, the hopes of the team dwindled and resulted in the season which was poor as a result. The team did, however, beat the Bobcats in two out of three of the games which were played with them.

HOMECOMING

Clarene Hornung, a sophomore in Spanish and home economics, was crowned 1969 UM Homecoming Queen as flares were lit outlining the "M" on Mount Sentinel. Eight high school bands, the UM band and floats from living groups and campus organizations were in the UM homecoming parade. The winning float showed a buzz saw chopping up an Idaho Bengal. It was sponsored by Sigma Phi Epsilon and Delta Delta Delta. Phi Delta Theta and Alpha Omicron Pi won second place and Phi Sigma Kappa, Alpha Lambda Delta, and Synadelphic won third. Recipients of the Distinguished Service Awards for 1969 were William J. Gallagher, Missoula business man, 1925 Business Administration graduate of the University and Boynton G. Paige, Philipsburg businessman, 1927 Business Administration graduate; Merritt N. Warden, Kalispell lawyer, 1939 Business Administration and Law School graduate; and Arnold S. Gillette, a professor at the University of Iowa who was graduated from the UM fine arts school in 1928.

Homecoming was not just a parade down Higgins or the tissue paper floats that are prevalent in most parades, but really involved much more student participation than it has in most other years. Included were student displays to try and involve the general public in affairs which are the concern of all involved students. The following parade also involved some student participation to try and keep warm while the players did not have as hard a time as the students. This game was also the first time this year that the force of Missoula's finest did not search for their liquor supply needs.

Gatton Field, Bozeman

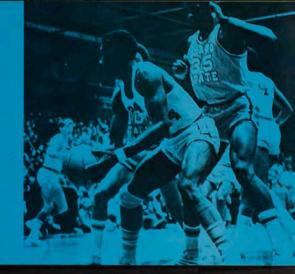

Parent's Day

The excitement of the annual confrontation of the Grizzlies and the Montana State University Bobcats was as exciting this year as it has been in the past. MSU was not enjoying a good football season. The Bobcats were 1-8 going into the annual game between Montana's two major colleges. In fact the only thing that could save a disaster for the Bozeman school was a win over the Grizzlies (Montana State was a conference co-football champion in 1968). Montana ran the clock out and ended a seven year Bobcat reign and the team went on to demolish the remaining two opponents. The score, which held the fans on the edge of their seats throughout the game, ended in a close 7 to 6.

Conference scores:

Um 89	Idaho St.	96

TENNIS

Tennis has become more popular this year and has resulted in a good team as well as alot more intramural and individual participation. The tennis courts have been enlarged as a result of increased demand and still will probably be inadequate to accomodate all those who want to play in the spring evenings after dinner. The UM tennis team retired from the courts of the Big Sky Conference Tournament in Moscow, Idaho, last weekend with third place.

DANCES

Dances were poorly attended at the University this year and not as frequently held as they have been in the past. The stress on the dances was on the unusual and the dances of former years such as the Sadie Hawkins and Registration dance, were changed to include an attempt to hold an all night dance and many other unusual, unordinary social gatherings.

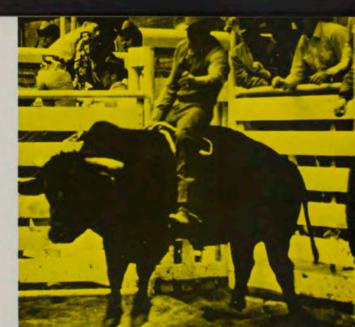

SWIMMING

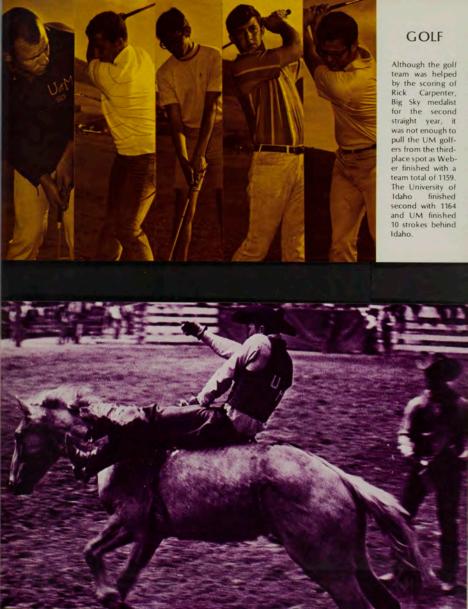

The swimming team upheld its record of winning the Big Sky Championship again this year with only one loss during the season. The Montana AAU championship held here was taken by the UM team. Outstanding swimmers Kurt von Tagen and Dave Sarard went to the NCAA meet in Salt Lake City.

RODEO

Part of the enjoyment of going to a school in the West is the participation in the culture of the country which all of us see so much of in the movies but becomes a reality in the Big Sky Country, The rodeo at the University saw capacity crowds both of the days that it was held. It was not unusual to see everyone in the crowd dressed in a traditional western outfit and completely enjoying the excitement of the old west.

performances

SHOWTIME

An all out effort by the Music Department is given each year in the form of Showtime. It included performances by the Jazz Workshop and the Jubileers as well as other outstanding performances by music students. The benefits from this event went to supply scholarships to music students and this combined with excellent performances made the price of the ticket worth while.

BASEBALL

The Grizzlies finished the season with a 15-17 record despite having seven regulars who hit above the .300 mark. The highlight of the season was the defeat of present Big Sky Champions in the last game of the season. Roger Nielson, a senior political science major from Ronan, was named the most valuable player on the Grizzly baseball squad for the 1970 season. Nielson, according to Head Coach Lem Elway, received the allocade for his superior defensive talent and handling of pitchers. Elway said that the Grizzly pitching, although weak, could have been a lot worse without Nielson catching.
